Prof. R. D. Shukla, Founder, Kalrashukla Classes

As a parent, it is your responsibility to guide and groom your ward into a successful adult. Too often, in my long career as a teacher, I have been witness to many good, talented and bright students lose focus because their parents lost focus; or left it to young teen to figure out his / her career path.

While freedom of choice must definitely be given to young students today, you must also understand that youngsters do not have the experience, the exposure, the maturity or the wisdom that is truly required to choose and build careers. That is where parents need to play a critical role, speaking to the child, understanding his dreams and balancing these young aspirations with words of sanity and guidance.
